Brief Job Description: Build a career with Children's Services! We offer employee supports, career growth, competitive salaries, and comprehensive benefit packages!

Are you looking to start your professional career in Child Intervention? Choosing the path as a Child Intervention (CI) Practitioner will provide you opportunities for a career that focuses on child safety, child well-being, family and community support, and permanency. Children's Services is committed to ongoing improvement and pursuit of excellence in services to infants, children, youth, and families. In this role, you will apply your related education and gain experiential learning in Child Intervention (CI) Practice.

The Entry Level, Child Intervention Practitioner is a developmental position that sets you on a meaningful career journey within Children's Services. Working in collaboration with a team of CI professionals, you will further develop your knowledge and skills as you work toward becoming a fully delegated Child Intervention Practitioner. You will gain confidence in your ability to work collaboratively with families and community partners in the creation of safe environments and identify safety and risk factors within communities and homes. You will strengthen your understanding of the fundamental components in casework, including family dynamics, trauma-informed practice, harm reduction, Signs of Safety, life-long connections, and encouraging families to have input into decisions that affect their lives.

The Entry Level, Child Intervention Practitioner will recognize the importance of working collaboratively with First Nations, Metis and Inuit communities, and have a working knowledge around the Truth and Reconciliation Commission calls to action. They also understand the importance of child and family involvement, connection, and collaboration to a large array of other cultures and communities.
